1/ Tasks
I worked on many projects during my work period, for example, the Task project, and the idea of this project is to distribute the task to the company's members, and after each individual finishes his task, it is sent to the system, and the company employee can request additional time or increase the specified date for delivery to the manager or the person who Request this task,
There is a list containing all the actions that took place in each task (Logs Activities for each Task), and there are also notifications for people that the entire task has been added, and the notification will be a WhatsApp message and will be activated from the system. There are also Permission for each employee in the company in terms of adding another employee, adding a client, doing a task for a person, or deleting a task.. An employee cannot see another person's task

2/ Application for one of the teachers (Dashboard , Api Mobile Application)
With this application, the teacher can provide lectures for the students and also exams, and he can also access a live and Dashboard for the application. The advantages of this application is that it has very high security - so that students do not have the habit of entering the application from more than one place, and they also cannot open lectures from anywhere. Smart screen or something similar , The teacher can add an exam through the Dashboard and also add the answer to this exam , He can add a group of lessons alone, and inside each one alone, and he can also add files specific to this lesson.

3/ Health Cheacker
The idea of the project here is to connect to more than one database, and through a form to enter the data of the data you want to connect to, and then specify the procedure to be done on this database, and through a simple form, you determine what you want to do, and inputs are created for this task.
